DETAILED ACTION

Examiner acknowledges that applicant has filed the Terminal disclaimer to overcome the double patenting rejection. However on further search Examiner would apply the latest art found to reject the following claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1,5,13,15 and 17 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Swen et al (U.S. patent 5,806,081)

Regarding claim 1 and 5 Swen et al disclose: A method of outputting original image data that was generated relative to a first color space (note column 6 lines 36-38, the source) by an output device that converts image data of a second color space to a visually-perceptible analog thereof (note column 6 lines 38-40, printer the output device) the method comprising: receiving from a provider over a communication channel (note Fig.2, the source device 26 over the cable connected to the printer, note Fig.1) original image data that was generated according to a first color space (note column 6 lines 36-38, the source) receiving from said provider (note Fig.2, the source device 26) over a communication channel along with said original image data tag data representing parameters of said first color space (note Fig.4, column 8 lines 13-22, where the tagged is added to the image data) automatically converting in output device said original image data into said second color space according to said tag data to produce converted image data of said second color space (note column 8 lines 3-12) and converting in the said output device, said converted image data into a visually –perceptible analog thereof (again note column 8 lines 10-12).

Regarding claim 13 and 15 An image processing system, comprising: a provider of original image data (note Fig.2 item 26 the source) a communication channel (note column 11 lines 52-60) and an output device that converts image data of a second color space to a visually-perceptible analog of said image data (note Fig.2 column 6 lines 36-48) said output device being operable to receive said original image data (note column 6 lines 36-40) generated according to a first color space (note column 6 lines 36-38) from said provider over said communication channel (note Fig.2 item 26, the source) receive, along with said image data tag data representing parameters of said first color space from said provider over said communication channel (note Fig.4 column 8 lines 13-22, where the data is tagged with the other data) convert said original image data relative to said first color space according to said tag data to produce converted image data of said second color space (note column 8 lines 3-12) and convert said converted image data into a visually-perceptible analog thereof (note column 8 lines 9-12).

Regarding claim 17 Swen et al disclose: The image processing system of claim 13, wherein said provider includes a server and said communication channel includes a network to which said output device is connected to (note column 11 lines 52-60).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 2,6-8,10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Swen et al (U.S. patent 5,806,081) in view of anticipated by Kumada (U.S. patent 6,337,922)

Regarding claim 2 and 8 Swen et al do not clearly disclose: The method of claim 1, wherein said tag data include a code identifying a color space; primary coordinates; white point brightness; tone characteristics color reproduction characteristics; (still picture/moving picture identification code ;On the other hand Kumada discloses: The method of claim 1, wherein said tag data include a code identifying a color space (note column 1 lines 36-46) primary coordinates (note Figs. 18, 19 and 20, column 11 lines 27-67 and column 12 lines 20-39) white point brightness (note column 16 lines 37-55) tone characteristics color reproduction characteristics (still picture/moving picture identification code (note Fig. 4 column 5 lines 35-49). Therefore it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in art at the time of the invention to modify Swen et al's invention according to the teaching of Kumada, Where Kumada teaches the way tagged data is used to increase the image quality and to enhance and optimize the image processing device.

Regarding claim 6 Kumada discloses: The method of claim 5, wherein said default color space is standard RGB (sRGB) (Figs. 4-8, column 5, lines 21-46,. column 6, lines 22-36).

Regarding claim 7 Kumada discloses: The method of claim 5, further comprising: said output device retrieving data representing parameters of said default color space, wherein said parameters include a code identifying a color space (note column 1 lines 36-46) primary coordinates (note Figs. 18, 19 and 20, column 11 lines 27-67 and column 12 lines 20-39) white point, brightness, tone characteristics, color reproduction characteristics, still picture/moving picture identification code or parameters for image processing (still picture/moving picture identification code (note Fig.4 column 5 lines 35-49).

Regarding claim 10 Kumada discloses: The method of claim 1, wherein said output device is a display device capable of displaying an image obtained by conversion from the original image data, in a display area forming part of a display screen of the display device and said display device generates color space conversion parameters for the display area based on the tag data associated with the original image data and area data representing the display area, and converts the original image data into the image data of the second color space representing the image displayed in the display area, based on the generated color conversion parameters (a liquid crystal display device, a plasma display device. However, a projector, a liquid crystal display device, a plasma display device are also display devices which can display the image data).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 3-4,9,11-12,14,16 and 18-22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
